THE ADAMS FAMILY
of
Great Egg Harbor, Atlantic County
by Arthur Adams, Ph.D.

Introduction

Though I know it will bring a smile to many faces, the Adams family of Great Egg Harbor actually does descend from three brothers! Who they were and what their antecedents were will appear in the course of this article.

There were two different streams, or trickles in some cases, of immigration to the Egg Harbor section of South Jersey.

The larger stream came from Long Island. Ultimately most of these families came from Connecticut, or in a few cases from other parts of New England. Another stream, or trickle, of settlers came from the Quaker settlements of Salem and Burlington counties. Most prominent of these Quaker families was the Somers family, though in that case, the point of departure was Lower Dublin, near Philadelphia.

Most of the settlers were of English origin. There was at least one Dutch family, the Conover or Van Cowenhoven. The Steelman family were of Swedish origin, coming from Pennsylvania by way of Burlington County. The one family, so far as I know, of French Huguenot origin was the Belangee family.

John Somers and James Steelman were here before the Long Island migration began, though only by a couple of years or so.

The real Long Island movement began in 1695 when Jonathan Adams, John Scull, Jonas Valentine, and Peter Cowenover bought land on Patconk Creek from Thomas Budd, of Philadelphia. Budd was an owner of many shares of Proprietary rights, and dealt extensively in real estate.

One wonders whether or not he sent an agent to Long Island to induce settlers to go to New Jersey. Land was cheap, there were good fishing and hunting, and the soil on the whole rather better than the Long Island soil.

A few other settlers came a little later from Huntington, whence the Adams's came, for example, the Ingersoll and Higbee families. Three Risley brothers, related to the Adams's, as were the Higbee's, came from Hartford, Connecticut, at a somewhat later date. The Lake family came from Gravesend, also at an early date.

I am saying this to give a sort of background of the Egg Harbor settlement, and of the settlers.

Later two brothers of Jonathan Adams came from Huntington, Long Island.

Probably none of the families early settled in Egg Harbor have more descendants than the Adams family, certainly not if we count the Risley's and the Higbee's, all of whom are Adams descendants.

There are few of present-day Atlantic County people of the old stock who have no Adams ancestry. So this account of the Adams family, short and sketchy as it is, should interest many of the members of our Society, as well as the larger host of their kin who have gone out from Great Egg Harbor to make their homes, probably in almost every State of the Union.

So we will begin our account of the family with the immigrant ancestor, Jeremy Adams.

Genealogy

1. Jeremy Adams came to Cambridge, Mass., in 1632. He was a member of the Company that came over under the influence of the Rev. Thomas Hooker, though Hooker himself did not come over till the next year. Hooker was one of the most influential ministers in the Puritan movement in the Church of England. He was a minister of the Established Church in Chelmsford, Essex. His Puritanism was so pronounced that he had to leave England, if not for his safety, at least for the sake of preaching and ministering to his Puritan followers. Most of his Company came from parishes within twenty-five miles of Chelmsford.

Though we have searched persistently for more than forty years, we have not been able to establish certainly the parentage of Jeremy. Adams is a common name in many or all parts of England. There were numerous families of the name in Essex, Suffolk, and Hertfordshire, the counties bordering on Essex. One would not expect to find many Jeremy's among them, but there are a surprising number. For example, at Saffron Walden in Essex, there was a family with a Jeremy in at least three successive generations. However, it has not been possible to fit our Jeremy into that family. There was a Jeremy, of the right age, in Kettering, Northamptonshire, and a Jeremy in Stoke by Nayland, also of the right age, in Suffolk. I think he is the most likely of all the Jeremy's to be ours, though positive proof is lacking.

Well, Jeremy came over to Cambridge in 1632. He was unmarried, though we know from his own statement that he was born in 1604 or 1605—he gave his age as sixty in a deposition in 1664. That would make him twenty-seven or twenty-eight years old when he came over, and certainly there were few if any unmarried men in the settlement so old. He may have been a widower. The fact that the Stoke by Nayland Jeremy has lost his wife shortly before our Jeremy's leaving England is one reason why I incline to identify our Jeremy with him.

Space forbids giving any account of Jeremy's four years stay in Cambridge. There isn't much to say, anyway, except that he owned land, some of it now occupied by buildings of Harvard University.

He came to Hartford in 1636, probably with the main company lead by Hooker, rather than with the small company who had come the preceding year to prepare for the arrival of the main body.

Within a year or two after his coming to Hartford, he married Rebecca, the widow of Samuel Grenhill. Grenhill had come over shortly before with his wife and two children from Staplehurst, Kent. The records of the baptisms of the two children are found in the Register of the Church in Staplehurst, but the marriage is not. Extensive research carried on by a number of people over many years has failed to turn up the record of the marriage of Samuel and Rebecca Grenhill. So we are still ignorant of the family name of Rebecca, the wife, first, of Samuel Grenhill, and secondly of Jeremy Adams.

Jeremy shared in the land divisions of the Hartford settlement, and also had in his possession, as trustee for the Grenhill children, the Grenhill estate.

Only a few incidents relating to Jeremy's life in Hartford can be touched on here.

April 5, 1638, he was sent with Captain Mason and others on an expedition to the Warranocke Indians. It is evident that this was an armed expedition, though there was no war at the time, and this service makes Jeremy a qualifying ancestor for the Society of Colonial Wars.

In 1662, Jeremy Adams was made official inn-keeper for the Colony. His inn was on what is now Main Street in Hartford; the site is now occupied by the Main Office of the Travelers Insurance Company. Another tract of land owned by Jeremy, is now a part of the Campus of Trinity College.

Jeremy kept the inn till his death in 1683. He was succeeded by his grandson-in-law, Zachary Sanford, and in time Sanford was succeeded by his son-in-law Jonathan Bunce. The inn was used for the meetings of the General Court—the legislative body—of the Colony, and for other public purposes. Probably few men knew so many of the prominent men of Connecticut or were personally known to so many.

March 31, 1661/2, Jeremy had a grant of a large tract of land in what is now Colchester. There is a ridge of rock there still known as "Jeremy's Back," and a considerable stream running into the Connecticut River there is called "Jeremy's River" or the Salmon River. March 11, 1662/63, the Court granted to Jeremy's son, John, 330 acres in Colchester.

These grants in a later day were the occasion of prolonged litigation, and the documents in the case give us proof as to who Jeremy's descendants were for a hundred years!

Jeremy's wife, Rebecca, died in 1678, and he married secondly, Rebecca, daughter of John Fletcher and widow of Andrew Warner, Jr. She survived him, though not mentioned in his will, and died in Middletown, Conn., Jan. 27, 1715, aged seventy-seven.

Jeremy died August 11, 1683, and received a public funeral. The Colony paid for three gallons and three quarts of wine consumed on the occasion!

He speaks of his grandson—really a grandson by marriage—Zachary Sanford, the children of his son, John, and the children of his son-in-law Nathaniel Willett. Willett was appointed executor of the will. We learn from a court record dated April 21, 1691, that all the books and papers of Jeremy were burned when Willett's house was destroyed by fire.

Children:

- 2 i. John, born about 1637.
- ii. Hannah, married Jonathan Smith, but died soon without issue.
- iii. Hester, died young.
- 3 iv. Sarah, born about 1641, married Nathaniel Willett.
- v. Samuel, baptised Nov. 23, 1645, died about 1661.

2. John² (Jeremy¹) Adams was the only son of Jeremy's to leave issue. August 24, 1657, he married Abigail Smith, a sister of Jonathan Smith who married his sister, Hannah, and youngest daughter of Richard Smith, Sr., of Wethersfield, whose wife was named Rebecca. Richard Smith was an early Wethersfield settler, and left a numerous and very respectable progeny. Neither John Adams nor Rebecca Smith was of age at the time of the marriage, and the document giving the consent of both Jeremy Adams and Richard Smith to the marriage is of record.

Very little is found of record, besides the grant of Colchester land in 1663, concerning John Adams. The explanation of this is his early death.

He died September 6, 1670, without a will. However, the records of the Probate Court give the names and ages of the children and tell us that another child was expected. John's widow married, secondly, John Betts, of Wethersfield, March 13, 1672/3. John Betts moved with his own and his wife's children, for the Adams marriage was also his second venture, to Huntington, Long Island. Probably the oldest original document relating to the family in private hands is a deed from John and Abigail Betts, dated April 2, 1689, conveying land to John Betts, Jr., Thomas Adams, and John Adams. Thomas was the posthumous child of John Adams, mentioned in the Probate Court record. This deed is owned by Dr. Lewis Paddock Addoms, of Brooklyn, N. Y., now retired from practice and spending the summer months at his summer home in Huntington. He is a descendant of John, son of John and Abigail (Smith) Adams.

Children:

- i. Rebecca, born in August 1658. She married the second Richard Risley, and they are the ancestors of all the Risley's. See the Risley Genealogy.
- ii Abigail, born in Feb. 1660. She married Edward Higbee, and they are the ancestors of all the South Jersey Higbee's. See the Higbee Genealogy.
- iii. Sarah, born in March 1662. She married John Brush of Huntington, and left at least two children.
- 4 iv. Jeremiah, born in August 1664.
- 5 v. John, born in September 1666.
- 6 vi. Jonathan, born November 6, 1668.
- vii. Thomas, born in 1670. Died a young man, unmarried, in Huntington.

3. Sarah³ (John², Jeremy¹) Adams. She married Nathaniel Willett, who came to Hartford about 1642, as his second wife. He died Jan. 4, 1698, leaving a good estate. There are many of his descendants well known in Connecticut.

Children:

- i. Rebecca, married in 1690, Thomas Ranney, of Middletown. For descendants see The Ranney Genealogy in "Middletown Upper Houses" by the late Charles Collard Adams.
- ii. Abigail. She married John Bishop of New Haven, a son of Lieutenant Governor James Bishop. For descendants, see Jacobus's "Families of New Haven."
- iii. Sarah. She married Zachary Sanford, of Hartford. The daughters married into the Brunce family and there are many descendants.
- iv. Hannah. She married in 1697, Baysey Baker, of Hartford.

4. Jeremiah³ (John², Jeremy¹) Adams. He was born in August 1664, and went with his mother, Abigail, and his step-father, John Betts, to Huntington. June 18, 1688, John Betts conveyed to him a part of the farm on Crab Meadow Neck in Huntington. Just when he went to Great Egg Harbor, we do not know, but it was somewhat later than when Jonathan went. He was twice married, first, to Deborah, and secondly, to Rebecca, before February 7, 1710, when he and his wife, Rebecca, of Great Egg Harbor, conveyed land to Thomas Brush, of Huntington.

Letters of Administration on his estate were granted to his son, Jeremiah, December 16, 1735.

The will of his widow, Rebecca, is dated August 1, 1750, and was proved June 28, 1754. She mentions, among others, a "grandson-in-law," David, evidently a son of one of Jeremiah's children by his first wife.

Children:

- 7 i. Jeremiah, born about 1685-1695.
- ii. Joseph.
- iii. Abigail; married James Somers.
- iv. Isaac; married by license of January 23, 1730/1, Bathsheba Weldon. He was living in Great Egg Harbor in 1773, but nothing is known of his descendants.
- v. Sarah; married John Covenhoven.
- vi. Elizabeth, married by license of May 22, 1729, John Van Gelder. For descendants, see an account of the Van Gelder family in the N. Y. Genealogical and Biographical Record.
- vii. Esther; married ———Robertson.

5. John³ (John² Jeremy¹) Adams. He was born in Hartford September 1666. He went to Huntington with mother and step-father, John Betts. He was a weaver, and his wife's name was Phebe. The frequency with which the name, Jonas, appears among his descendants suggests that she may have been a member of one of the numerous Wood families of Huntington. He is mentioned in Huntington deeds as late as 1724. He owned land at Chestnut Neck in Great Egg Harbor. The date of his death is not known, but it was before 1750. On that date, May 11, 1750, his son, John, heir at law, his widow Phebe (not so called), and his son John's wife, Sarah, sold the land at Chestnut Neck that had belonged to John Adams.

Children:

- 8 i. John.
- 9 ii. Jeremiah.
- 10 iii. Jonas.

6. Jonathan³ (John², Jeremy¹) Adams was born November 6, 1668, according to the record of the Hartford Probate Court in the proceedings concerning his father's estate. He went to Huntington, Long Island, with his mother and step-father, John Betts, and grew to manhood there. November 10, 1689, a few days after attaining his majority, his brother, Jeremiah Adams, sold to his "well beloved brother, Jonathan Adams," one half of the plot of land conveyed to him by his step-father (Huntington Town Records).

November 30, 1695, he bought of Thomas Budd about 250 acres of land in Great Egg Harbor on Patconck Creek. Subsequently he sold this land to John Scull and purchased a tract in what is now Pleasantville. It was roughly the tract between "the Delilah Road" and the road running past the School. It extended from Jonathan's Thoroughfare, which derived its name from him, back to the New Road. Samuel Gale's land, which descended to the Risley's, bounded his land on the north, and Ingersoll's land on the south.

About the time of his going to Great Egg Harbor, he became a member of the Society of Friends (Quakers). He is first mentioned as a member in the records of the Little Egg Harbor Meeting. When the Great Egg Harbor Meeting was organized in 1726, he was chosen one of the first Overseers of the Meeting. He was a justice of the Gloucester County Court for several years (a service making him a Colonial Dames qualifier), and was appointed a Special Tax Collector in 1701.

His will, dated May 27, 1719, and proved June 17, 1727, mentions his wife Barbara, two sons, and seven daughters. The widow, Barbara, and Peter White are named as executors; the witnesses are Daniel Ingersoll, Elizabeth Ingersoll, and Thomas Green. No clue as to the family name of his wife, Barbara, has been found. The fact that the name sometimes occurs in the Dutch form "Barber" suggests the possibility that she may have been Dutch in origin. She married, secondly, by license of April 24, 1731, Stephen Morris. They seem to have lived on the Adams plantation, and several references are found to him, but no record of his death or of the disposition of his estate has been found.

Children:

1. Jonathan. He is mentioned a few times in records of one sort or another, but it is evident that he died a young man and childless. In 1770, his brother, John, had the home plantation resurveyed, and it then included all that Jonathan had left to be divided between his sons, Jonathan and John.
 - 11 ii. John.
 - iii. Abigail.
 - iv. Margaret.
 - v. Rebecca.
 - vi. Sarah, married by license of Sept. 14, 1730, Matthias Steelman. See Hess's Steelman Genealogy.
 - vii. Mary, married probably by license of Nov. 6, 1749, Richard Mannery.
 - viii. Dinah, married Alexander Fish by license of Dec. 21, 1737.
 - ix. Phebe, married by license of Dec. 21, 1737, George Steelman. This George Steelman went to Rowan Co., North Carolina, and is the ancestor of a line of Steelman's in that section.
7. Jeremiah⁴ (Jeremiah³, John², Jeremy¹) Adams was born doubtless in Huntington about 1685-1693. He went with his father to Great Egg Harbor. He was evidently twice married, though the identity of his first wife has not been determined. For a discussion of the theory that she was Mary, daughter of Peter Covenhoven, see the N. Y. Gen. & Biog. Record. Vol. 81, p. 245. It seems to the writer much more probable that she was the wife of John⁴, Jonathan³, John², Jeremy¹. He is in all probability the Jeremiah who married Mary Homan, daughter of Andrew, by license of Jan. 5, 1738.

His will is dated June 26, 1742, and was proved Nov. 25, 1742. The executors named are the wife, Mary, and the son David.

Children:

12 i. David.

ii. Mary.

iii. Sarah.

iv. Rebecca.

13 v. Joseph.

vi. Jeremiah died young and childless.

8. John⁴ (John³, John², Jeremy¹) Adams was the eldest son. His father left no will; so the family has to be determined from the land records.

In the records of the Great Egg Harbor Meeting of Friends, under date of 7 day 2 mos. 1729, we find that John Adams, Jr., and Sarah Smith declared their intention of marriage. The Meeting appointed Daniel Ireland and James Somers, according to Friends' custom "to make inquiry concerning sd John's life and conversation, and also his clearness in Respect of marriage, and make report thereof to the next meeting." At the monthly meeting held at Richard Somers the 5th day of the 3rd mo. 1729 "something appeared against Sarah Smith so that the intended marriage between her and the sd John was not allowed of by the meeting." But as usual in such cases, the disapproval of the Meeting did not prevent the marriage, for May 26, 1729, license was issued for the marriage of John Addoms of Burlington County and Sarah Smith of Gloucester County.

Sarah Smith was the daughter of Robert Smith, of Great Egg Harbor, whose wife was named Ann. His will is dated August 30, 1750, and was proved June 11, 1765. Among his children, he mentions his daughter Sarah Addoms.

Robert Smith was twice married. His first wife, mother of Sarah, who married John Adams, was Elizabeth Belangee; his second wife was Ann, widow of William Cordery. Elizabeth Belangee was a daughter of Ives or Evi Belangee. Ives Belangee married Christian de la Plain. They were married in the Philadelphia Friends Meeting in 1697. Christian de la Plain was baptised in New York January 31, 1681. She was a daughter of Nicholas de la Plain and Susannah Cresson, married in New York September 1, 1658. Susannah Cresson was born in Holland, a daughter of Pierre Cresson.

May 11, 1750, John Addoms, Phebe Addoms, and Sarah Addoms, all of Chestnut Neck Great Egg Harbor, sell to Henry Davies, Mariner, for £300 two hundred acres of land on a small creek running into Little Egg Harbor River above John Addoms' landing on said river. John Addoms claims title as the eldest son and heir at law of John Adams. The witnesses are Robert Morse, Evi Smith, and Japhet Leeds. The deed was not recorded till May 5, 1813. Phebe Addoms was doubtless the widow of the Grantor's father and so would have a dower right, and Sarah Addoms was doubtless the wife of the grantor.

About this time, John Addoms moved up to Wantage Township in Sussex County, then the very frontier. His descendants have been carefully studied by the late Charles R. Hutchinson, a descendant. His collection of genealogical material, which was given to the New Jersey Historical Society, is invaluable for the study of this branch of the Jeremy Adams family.

John Addoms, of Wantage, Sussex County, New Jersey, made his will February 3, 1761/2. It was proved November 19, 1762. The witnesses are Joseph Crowell and Jeremiah Washburn. The executors named are the sons John and Silvanus.

Children:

- 14 i. Sarah.
- ii. Deborah, married Judah Allen.
- iii. Catherine.
- 15 iv. John.
- 16 v. Uriah.
- 17 vs. Evi.
- 19 vii. Sylvanus.
- 19 viii. Robert.

9. Jeremiah⁴ (John³, John², Jeremy¹) Adams was born probably about 1708. In several deeds and surveys, he is referred to as "Jeremiah Adams, son of John Adams." He is spoken of in this way to distinguish him from other contemporary Jeremiah Adams's. Since his older brother, John Adams, was the eldest son and heir at law, Jeremiah inherited nothing from his father. Several conveyances of land to him are of record.

An abstract of what is the most important of them follows:

July 22, 1730, Elizabeth Budd, of Northampton Township, Burlington County, and Thomas Budd, her son, heirs of her late husband, William Budd, sell to Jeremiah Adams, Jr., son of John Adams, of Great Egg Harbor, 302 acres of land, beginning at a stake on Nakut Creek, near Little Egg Harbor, adjoining said John Addoms's land, etc.

This deed is recorded in the Office of the Secretary of State, Trenton. A few years ago, the original was in the possession of Edward Adams, of Port Republic.

The land is situated in what is now Port Republic, and small portions of it are still, or were till recently, in the possession of descendants.

The date of Jeremiah's death has not been determined, but it was between July 18, 1775, the date of a deed to his four sons, William, Jeremiah, John, and Andrew, and October 11, 1786, when these sons quit-claimed portions of the property to one another (Woodbury Deeds, R3, 316.) There are a goodly number of deeds of record made by the brothers to one another, and from them we learn what we know concerning the family.

Children:

20 i. William.

21 ii. Jeremiah.

22 iii. John.

23 iv. Andrew.

10. Jonas¹ (John³, John², Jeremy¹) Addoms, was born April 4, 1710, probably in Huntington, Long Island. When he went to Great Egg Harbor and how long he remained there is doubtful. July 3, 1736, he married Elizabeth Sexton, and went to Hopewell, Hunterdon County, N. J., to live with his Sexton relatives. He died July 1, 1757, intestate. Elizabeth Sexton was born February 3, 1716, and died May 2, 1807 in Plattsburg, N. Y. Dr. Lewis Paddock Addoms, of Brooklyn, N. Y., is the historian of this branch of the family, all of whom spell the name Addoms, a common spelling in the family down to about 1800. He has deposited an extensive genealogy of his branch of the family with the Long Island Historical Society. He also has an interesting collection of original documents—deeds, etc.

The following abstracts of deeds made to Jonas Adams and by him are of the highest interest as proof of descent of Jonas from Jeremy Adams in the line as we have indicated it.

The original of the first deed abstracted is in the possession of Dr. Lewis Paddock Addoms, formerly of Brooklyn, now of Huntington.

John Addoms of Great Egg Harbor, New Jersey, aged twenty-four years, through his love, good will, and affection to his well and truly beloved son Jonas Addoms, of Huntington, grants and confirms all his lands, messages, and tenements in Hartford and Wethersfield that did in any wise belong to my father and grandfather both on the east and west sides of the River. Dated June 3, 1739. Signed: John Adams, Senior.

The deed of which an abstract follows is recorded in the Office of the Clerk of the Town of Hartford:

Jonas Adams of Trenttown in the Parish of Hopewell, New Jersey, to Thomas Seymour of Hartford. One half part of all his right, title, and interest in the property of his great-grandfather, Jeremiah Adams in Hartford, and also one half part of land, etc., that did belong to his father, John Adams, late of Great Egg Harbor, deceased. Also the full half part of the land in Wethersfield belonging to the estate of John Betts, deceased, of Wethersfield. Dated July 16, 1753. (Vol. 17, page 139, Hartford Records).

Traditions of the Hartford origin of the family persisted, and it is referred to in the Boardman Genealogy, page 148, Horace Boardman having married Harriet Addoms, a daughter of Major John and Mary (Townsend) Addoms. Major John was a son of Jonas Addoms, born in 1710 as above. Jonas Adams and his wife Elizabeth Sexton were members of the First Church in Huntington, and these baptisms appear in the records of that Church.

Children:

- 24 i. John, born September 9, 1737.
- ii. Elizabeth, bapt. March 2, 1739/40.
- 25 iii. Phebe, bapt. May 12, 1740.
- 26 iv. Sarah, bapt. October 7, 1744.
- 27 v. Jonas, born March 26, 1753.

11. John⁴ (Jonathan³, John², Jeremy¹) Adams. He was the second son, but his older brother, Jonathan, died young, and he inherited all the real estate. The name of his wife is not certainly known, but she was probably Mary, daughter of Peter Cowenhoven. She has also been said to marry Jeremiah Adams, John's cousin. For a discussion of the question, see Vol. 80, page 245, of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Record.

He had his estate resurveyed in 1767, and in 1770 conveyed equal parts of it to his sons John, Jonathan, and Elijah. He did not leave a will; so the names of his daughters are unknown. His farm lay between what is known as the Delilah Road and the School House Road, extending from Jonathan's Thoroughfare, which derived its name from him, to the New Road.

Children:

- 28 i. John.
- 29 ii. Jonathan.
- 30 iii. Elijah.

12. David⁵ (Jeremiah⁴, Jeremiah³, John², Jeremy¹) Adams is mentioned in the will of his step-grandmother, Rebecca, in 1750, as her grandson-in-law, son of Jeremiah Adams, deceased, and is mentioned in the will of his father, Jeremiah in 1742, of which he was an executor. He married Catherine Wood by license dated June 20, 1745.

His will is dated March 6, 1754, and was proved March 24, 1763. His wife, Catherine, and Robert Morse were made executors. He mentioned the children named below:

31 i. Jonas.

ii. David.

13. Joseph⁵ (Jeremiah⁴, Jeremiah³, John², Jeremy¹) Adams. He married Sarah Reeves, of Burlington County, by license of June 28, 1754.

His will is dated November 24, 1766, and was proved February 10, 1769. His wife and Nehemiah Leeds are named executors. The children named are listed below. His land was sold by the Sheriff, and some of his descendants are to be found in Havre-de-Grace, Maryland.

Children:

i. Joseph.

ii. John.

iii. Rebecca.

iv. Mary.

v. Jane.

vi. An expected child.

To be continued.

14. Sarah⁵ (John⁴, John³, John², Jeremy¹) Adams was probably the oldest child of John and Sarah (Smith) Addoms, and so was born about 1730 or 1731. She married, first, Daniel McClutche—the name is now written Clutch—of Northampton, now Hamilton Township, in what was then Burlington County, but is now in Mercer County. He died toward the end of 1763, leaving her with three small children. She subsequently married, by license dated April 3, 1769, Robert Hutchinson.

Her father in his will, 1761, mentions his grandson John McClutche.

Robert Hutchinson died in September, 1781; his wife, Sarah, died between 1793 and 1800. Both are buried in unmarked graves in the Presbyterian Cemetery in Hamilton Square.

The late Charles Robbins Hutchinson gave much attention to the descendants of John and Sarah (Smith) Addoms, including Sarah Addoms McClutche-Hutchinson. His genealogical collections are now in the Library of the New Jersey Historical Society in Newark, where they may be consulted. Mr. Charles Percy Hutchinson, a lawyer of Trenton, New Jersey, is a descendant. According to Mr. Robert Hutchinson, the children of Sarah Addoms McClutche-Hutchinson were:

Children:

(By first marriage)

- i. Daniel, aged five years. Descendants in Franklin, Ohio.
- ii. John, aged about five years. Many descendants in female lines. Died May 6, 1849, aged 92.
- iii. A son, name unknown, said to have gone to Kentucky and been killed by Indians.

(By second marriage)

- iv. Sarah, born January 1, 1771, married William Preston.
- v. Robert, born November 12, 1772, married Rebecca Forman.
- vi. Catherine }
vii. Elizabeth } twins.
- viii. Sylvanus, born April 5, 1775, married Elizabeth Barber.

15. John⁵ (John⁴, John³, John², Jeremy¹) Addoms of Wantage and the Clove, Sussex County, New Jersey. He died young, and we know but little about him. A record of his intestate estate is found on page 10 of Vol. 14 of Abstracts of Wills, Vol. XXXIII, of the First Series of New Jersey Archives. Sarah Addoms, widow, probably his mother, and Silvanus Addoms, his brother, were appointed administrators, November 19, 1762. The inventory taken April 27, 1762, by Samuel Crowell and Andrew Wilson, amounted to $183.62. The land called "New Intent" left him by his father's will is mentioned (seventy acres).

It would seem from this intestate record that John had no children, but the Sarah mentioned may be his wife rather than his mother.

It is maintained, without proof it must be admitted, that he had a son John, born in October, 1759, who died in 1821. He married according to a family Bible, Elizabeth Beemer, born in August, 1760, died in October, 1844. She is buried in Mt. Salem Cemetery near Unionville, N. J.

The children were: Evi, born March 29, 1791, died December 19, 1873, married Jemina Rusco, born October 2, 1791, died June 20, 1845. Their children were: John; Sarah, who married Thomas Casterline; Catherine, who married Cornelius Hoffman, and had Moses, born November 14, 1807; and Lezean, born June 4, 1809; James, born February 2, 1814, died June 28, 1870; Chauncey, born February 7, 1818, died April 19, 1845; Samuel, born December 17, 1821; Mary Ann, born December 8, 1825, died April 10, 1898; Levi S., born February 15, 1828, died August 16, 1807; John H., born September 14, 1830, died January 11, 1889; Isaac H., born September 8, 1836, died December 12, 1910, married Harriet Elizabeth McBride, and had Albert Earl Adams.

These names give support to the belief that this family is descended from John, son of John and Sarah (Smith) Adams. However definite proof is lacking, and until it is found, judgment must be suspended.

16. Uriah⁵ (John⁴, John³, John², Jeremy¹) Addoms, said to be a twin of John, was born in Egg Harbor about 1733. He died in 1814, leaving a will. During the Revolution, he was an Ensign in Captain Bockhoven's Company, Second Regiment, Sussex County Militia. His will mentions the following:

He was a private in the Revolution in Capt. Benjamin Kay Kendall's Co., 2nd Regt. Sussex Co. Militia. He married April 28, 1768 Jane Lewis, born January 29, 1748, a daughter of Lewis Lewis and Ann Lord, who were married 2 mo. 1728 in the Abington Friends Meeting. John Lewis lived in Richland Township, Bucks County, Penna. He was born in 1706 and died 2 mo. 16, 1778; Ann Lord was born in 1707 and died 11 mo. 6, 1785. He was a son of Ellis Lewis of Richland Township, who was probably born in Wales. He died in Upper Dublin 9 mo. 1753; his wife's name was Ann. For an account of this Lewis family, see Roberts' "Early Friends Families of Upper Bucks", pages 358 ff.

Evi Adams was born 17 December, 1744 and died September 14, 1828, aged 85 years 8 months and 25 days; Jane died February 27, 1810, aged 66 years and 29 days, according to the inscriptions on their gravestones in the Papacating Cemetery.

Evi Adams's will is dated December 9, 1815; it was proved October 2, 1828. He mentions his sons Lewis, John E., Joseph, Evi, and Ellis, to whom he leaves his farm or plantation, his daughters Anny Decker, Sarah Bunnel, and his grandson John A. Britton. He makes his sons Lewis and John E. executors. He wrote his will himself.

We learn from this deed that his wife's name was Mary (Woodbury Deeds R, page 316). It would seem that he married, secondly, Sarah, for a deed dated August 9, 1806 (Woodbury Deeds Q, page 15), is signed by Sarah, the widow, of William Adams. He died intestate between September 6, 1799, the date of a deed to his son, Henry, and August 8, 1806, the date of a quit-claim deed from the widow, Sarah, and the other children to his son, Andrew Adams.

Mr. A. N. Morton, of Boston, informs me that Mr. Maro Johnson, of Hammond, La., a descendant, told him that Elizabeth Addoms, baptised 2 March 1739/40, married, 17 July 1759, Thomas Liscomb, born in Smithtown, Long Island, about 1728. Their daughter, Elizabeth, born in New York City, 9-5-1760, married Joseph Rue about 1782. She was baptised in New York City, 5 Oct. 1760, in the First Presbyterian Church, and died in Pennington, N. J., in 1845 (N. Y. Genealogical and Biographical Record, Vol. 5, page 37).

ADDITIONS

Jeremy Adams, No. 1, page 00.

During the summer of 1955, the compiler discovered the record of the marriage of Samuel Greenhill (Grinnell) in the copy of the Register of Cranbrook, Kent, in the Library of the Society of Genealogists, London:

24 June 1628, Samuel Grinnell and Rebecca Baseden.

There are a number of Baseden entries in the Cranbrook Register, but the parentage of Rebecca has not been determined.

The baptisms of Rebecca and Thomas, children of Samuel and Rebecca Greenhill, appear in the Register of the nearby Parish of Staplehurst:

Rebecca was baptised 24 Feb. 1630, married John Shepard of Cambridge and Hartford; Thomas was baptised 20 Jan. 1632/3. He died in Hartford unmarried in 1653.

Samuel Greenhill came to Cambridge, Mass., in 1634 in the same ship with Simon Willard.

Elijah Addoms: No. 30, page 00.

Less is known about the descendants of this man than about almost any other member of the family.

Whether he had any other children than Jeremiah, son and heir, is not clear.

29 of first month 1808, Jeremiah Adams and Elizabeth his wife and Elizabeth Whiley (his mother), widow of Elijah Adams, sell land to James Adams, which land Elijah had had by deed of gift from his father, John, in 1770. This James Adams was apparently a son of a Jesse Adams. The land bought by James Adams in 1808 is what is known as the "Buzzard Tavern" Tract.

Mrs. Leonard G. Rundstrom, of Atlantic City, nee Olive Conover, is a descendant of James Adams.

James Adams married, first, March 3, 1811, Jemima Risley, daughter of Morris Risley (see the Lake Genealogy). She married, secondly, before May 9, 1843, John Adams, known as "Long John" Adams (No. 29, i) page 00.

Jeremiah Adams, son of Elijah, was born about 1778, since he died Nov. 11, 1854, aged seventy-six years, seven months, and seven days. He married, Jan. 22, 1803, Elizabeth Ireland, daughter of Clement Ireland and his second wife, Deborah Conover. She died April 10, 1860, aged seventy-three years, six months, and twenty-seven days.

The children were:

1. Joseph, settled in Wabash Co., Ill., and left descendants
2. Japhet

3. Isaiah
4. Elijah, died young at Bakersville, N.J.
5. Eliza, married Samuel Jarman. No children
6. Mary Ann
7. Unice
2. Japhet Adams married Jane Mahoney.

The data for the following account of Major John Addoms (No. 24, page) and of his descendants through his second wife, Mary Townsend, especially in the line of their daughter, Mary Addoms, who married Robert Reeve, were given me by Mrs. Edward E. Barrett (Mrs. Grace P. Barrett), of Tulsa, Oklahoma, who in turn derived them largely some years ago from Miss Susie Hooey, of Abingdon, Ill.

Major John Addams, baptized 9 Oct. 1737, died 8 June 1823, married first, Charity Smith 7 Nov. 1763, who died 17 Oct. 1775, and secondly, 8 June 1778, Mary Townsend, sister of Nathaniel Townsend and John Townsend, of Nine Partners, Dutchess County, N.Y. They were married at the home of Philip Verplanck. Mary (Townsend) Adams died in Plattsburg, N.Y., 7 Feb. 1839, aged eighty-eight years.

Major John Addams enlisted early in the War in New York City as a Captain. He was made a Major in June 1778. Among other services, he was in command of the artificers who constructed the cheval-de-frise in the Hudson River to obstruct the passage of British ships. He served till near the end of the war. Late in life, he moved to Cumberland Head, Plattsburg, N.Y., where he died. His widow applied for a pension 7 Feb. 1837, but died before it was granted.

These six children survived their mother: (a) Mary, born in April 1779, married 12 Nov. 1797, Robert Reeve; (b) Rev. John Townsend, born 10 June 1781, married 1 April 1814 Harriet Young; (c) Harriett, married Horace Boardman 21 March 1821 (for descendants, see Boardman Genealogy); (d) Sarah, married 25 Aug. 1813 Luther Hagar; (e) Charles, who lived in Russeltown, Lower Canada; (f) Phebe, married Jonathan Barlow 17 May 1812.

Other children died earlier: (a) Phebe Addoms, 9 July 1784; (b) Jonas Smith, who married 17 March 1804, Rebecca Rogers. He died 6 May 1804 and she in 1808; (c) Charity, married 17 Aug. 1814, Lemuel Barlow. He died in March 1822, and she in Sept. 1822. (d) Martha, married William Coe 17 Jan. 1787 (See "Robert Coe, Puritan", the Coe Genealogy).

Mrs. Barrett also supplied the dates of death of some of Major Addoms's children by his first wife:

- i Richard, 3 Oct. 1767
- iii Richard, 15 April 1769
- v Elizabeth Moores, 22 Jan. 1818
- vi John, Jr., 31 Oct. 1776

Robert Reeve and his wife Mary Addams, married 12 Nov. 1797, removed to Springfield, Ill., about 1824. He died in Springfield, Ill., a few years later, about 1828/30.

Their children were: (a) Phoebe Maria, born 2 July 1800, died 1 Jan. 1894, married 20 May 1818, Elias Foster, who died in 1835; (b) John Addams — no data; (c) Simon Rumsey, born 17 March 1805; died 2 March 1892, married in June 1837 Abigail Weaver, born 10 March 1818, died 16 Feb. 1897; (d) and (e) Charity and Sarah Ann, twins, of whom Charity married a Mitchell and Sarah Ann a Curtis; (f) Harriet Cornelia, born 10 July 1811, died 27 Jan. 1879, married 13 Dec. 1838 Isaac Weaver, born 13 July 1819, died 29 Jan. 1890; (g) Charles, married Elizabeth Jones and died 24 Jan. 1890; (h) Charlotte M., born 20 Jan. 1820, died 13 Sept. 1851, married 30 June 1846, Hugh Jones.

The children of Hugh Jones and Charlotte M. were: (a) Hugh, born 15 June 1849, married 26 July 1882 Susanna Wendell, born in August 1863, died 3 April 1887. He died 23 April 1905.

The daughter, Grace P. Jones, born 26 Jan. 1885, married in 1903 Edward E. Barrett, born 9 Sept. 1875. The children are: Earl L., born 11 May 1904, and Doris Beatty, born 7 March 1906.

The following data concerning the marriage and family of Jane

Jane Adams, born July 11, 1788; died Oct., 1857; married Jan. 28, 1807, at Wantage, Sussex Co., N.J., Nathaniel Loomis, son of Nathaniel and Bethena (Bronson) Loomis. He was born May 3, 1786, at Suffield, Conn.; died Aug. 11, 1850. Both died and are buried at Rockford, Ill. They were living in Wantage from 1807 until after 1831.
